The Software Catalog

The definitive software resource – now in three editions for three distinct areas of selection needs

Produced from the Menu™/ International Software Database™

The Software Catalog, the most comprehensive, most completely cross-referenced directory, is now available in three editions – Microcomputers, Minicomputers, and Science and Engineering (comprising micro- and minicomputer software specifically for scientists and engineers).

The Software Catalog gives you the most information on availability, price, applications, and compatibility of more than 50,000 software packages and the systems they run on. A unique indexing system lets users find software from any of these reference points: vendor, computer system, operating system, programming language, microprocessor, application, and keyword.

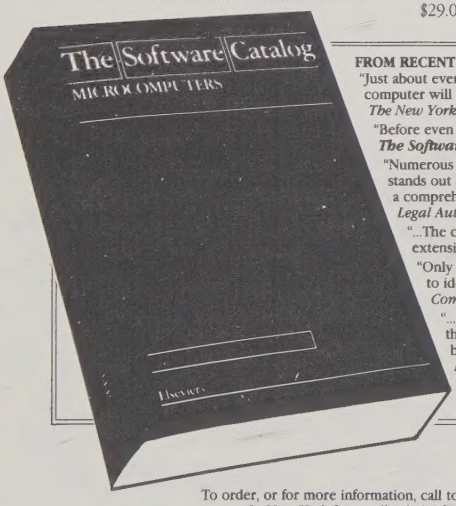
Choose the catalog that suits your needs – The Software Catalog is the choice of professionals in every work situation demanding quick, accurate, and economical software decisions.

The Software Catalog, 1984 editions:

Microcomputers: 0-444-00914-0. Approx. 1150 pages. $75.00 (Dfl. 235.00 outside North America)

Minicomputers: 0-444-00913-2. Approx. 900 pages. $115.00 (Dfl. 365.00 outside North America)

Science and Engineering: 0-444-00925-6. Approx. 470 pages. $29.00 (Dfl. 110.00 outside North America)



FROM RECENT REVIEWS:

"Just about everyone who is going to be buying software for his computer will want a copy of this dream book to thumb through." The New York Times (12/20/83)

"Before even talking to the salesman, spend sometime with The Software Catalog." Forbes (7/83)

"Numerous efforts have been made, but The Software Catalog stands out from the rest, incorporating unique features into a comprehensive source of reference on software." Legal Automation News (4/83)

"...The catalog is neatly printed, well-organized, and extensive." Library Journal (10/83)

"Only the Elsevier Software Catalog explicitly attempts to identify...[nineteen] attributes for each package." Computer Age-Software Digest (4/83)

"....Several annual and semiannual publications cover the entire personal computer field. [One of] the two best-known [is]: ...The Software Catalog...." Personal Computing, "Answers" (12/83)

"Very thorough and comprehensive..." Desktop Computing (6/83)
